 World Rapid 2015 (1.2) 10.10.2015
 [Kitty Kat]

Grischuk is clearly one of the best players in the world, and especially so in rapid and blitz, which he proved once again by winning the blitz event. In the rapid things didn't go too well for him, although he showed great and exciting chess. In the current game, things are getting very interesting already from the beginning. White later on sacrificed a piece for the attack and managed to mate the black king in beautiful style. A great game to just enjoy the beauty of chess! A45: Trompowsky Attack

1.d4 Nf6 2.Bf4 Lately we could see a few games by Grischuk playing this slightly strange opening, but he is showing great results in it, beating Anand in it in classical chess not that long ago for example. 2...c5 Adhiban is going for one of the most forced lines possible, but of course Black also has calm moves like 2...g6 or 2...d5. 3.e3 Qb6 This is Black's idea, to directly disturb White in the development by attacking the b2 pawn. 4.Nc3 We are still following theory. White gives up the b2 pawn. 4...Qxb2 5.Nge2 An interesting move.

[5.Nb5 Nd5 is the main line. 6.a3 a6 7.Rb1 Qa2 8.Qc1 axb5 9.Ra1 Qxa1 10.Qxa1 Nc6 11.Bxb5 cxd4 12.Bxc6 bxc6 13.Qxd4 f6 Neo London System-1...Nf6 2 Bf4 c5 d-Pawn Specials 2024]

6.Rb1 Qd8 7.dxc5 The material is equal and White has much better development, but on the other hand White's pawn structure is really bad, so White will need to act dynamically. Threatens to win with Nb5. 7...g6 0.74/24 Black is weak on the dark squares

[7...Nc6± 0.31/24]

8.g3 0.27/23 To put the bishop on g2 is nice of course, as the b7 pawn will always be under attack.

[8.Na4± 0.74/24]

8...Na6 9.Qd4 The c5 pawn needs to be protected. 9...Bg7 10.Bg2 Grischuk is going for the piece sacrifice! 10...Nh5 1.00/23 is Black's best choice. If he would not try to fight, White's position would be clearly better.

[10...0-0± 0.47/24]

[14.g4+- 2.32/18]

14...Bf8 0.66/20 ! Adhiban is also playing a good game. Black can't castle so something needs to be done. By playing Bf8 Black not only attacks the c5 pawn, but also brings the bishop to e7 if needed.

[14...f5!= 0.29/19]

During the event, in public interviews, Magnus complained both of a lack of motivation, and later food poisoning, leading to him forcing a draw with the white pieces in the 2. classical game of this match, but for the deciding playoff both the joy and energy-level seemed to be there: Während des Turniers klagte Magnus in öffentlichen Interviews über mangelnde Motivation und später über eine Lebensmittelvergiftung, die dazu führte, dass er in der 2. klassischen

Blitz 3min A04: Unusual lines after 1 Nf3 and King's Indian Attack

In this overview I will discuss lines where White aims for setups based on the English or the Réti. My main recommendation is to play for a quick ...f5-f4 and wait with ...e7-e5 against the English. There is nothing wrong with ...e7-e5, but then we often transpose to one of the main lines which White players who play the English might be quite familiar with. Against the setups with Nf3 and d2-d3 followed by e2-e4 I recommend a setup where Black plays ...f5 and ...e5. 1.Nf3 f5 2.d3 Nf6 3.e4 d6 4.exf5

C65: Ruy Lopez: Berlin Defence (3...Nf6), unusual lines and 4 0-0 Bc5 In this game, I bring to your attention a variation which became very popular recently - 6.
Nbd2. This move tends to be rather flexible since White could go either Nc4 or Nb3. Generally speaking, in this line, White often obtains a pair of bishops.
Nevertheless, in order to exchange one of the opponent's bishops, he should spend some valuable time. Black makes use of it to activate his minor pieces. I am convinced that the arising positions are pretty much level. 1.e4 e5 2.Nf3

E05: Open Catalan: 5 Nf3 Be7

Delgado,N: 'Inf 88/410' I wanted to provide an informational to show the most natural way to play against the Catalan and explain why we went for the rare sideline in this course. The following theory was taken from my Aggressive Queen's Gambit Declined course if you are thinking of playing this as an alternative. White has multiple options, some of which are quite theory-intense and easy to err in. We wanted something more points A to B and ideas based in this text. Let's get into some of the honeycomb variations to see what you would need to learn to play against the mainline Open Catalan with Black.

Anytime it is noted that White has other options they are covered in detail in the aforementioned text. We stuck to the mainlines to give the reader an idea of the complexity of the mainline. 1.Nf3 d5

B33: Sicilian: Pelikan and Sveshnikov Variations Shabalov,Alexander: 'The Sveshnikov variation abruptly went out of fashion sometime late in 2009, because many black players suddenly realized that positions in the 11.c4 line were too dry, and they were playing for two results only, which was unacceptable in open tournaments. || However, in elite tournaments a draw with black is not a bad result, and it was demonstrated by many players, most notably Gelfand in his game versus Filippov, that Black can easily hold the position when he abandons any winning ambitions. It came as no surprise that this development brought back the old 11.c3. || Giri made a clear case to Shirov that chess engines have made a significant leap in strength since 2009, and the line which brought Alexey so many good memories was simply not playable anymore. Then again, if the traditional Bg5 and 0-0 line might be in crisis, the old-but-reliable sideline 11...Rb8 looked almost like a forced draw in Dominguez-Gelfand. || All in all, these recent games probably won't bring the Sveshnikov back to open tournaments, but it feels like a legitimate replacement for the Berlin Ruy, without having to deal with slow d3 lines.' 1.e4 c5 2.Nf3 e6 3.d4 cxd4 4.Nxd4 Nf6 5.Nc3 Nc6 6.Ndb5 d6 7.Bf4 e5 8.Bg5 a6 9.Na3 b5 10.Nd5 Be7 11.Bxf6 Bxf6 12.c3 Rb8! 12...Rb8 is setting a new trend. 12...Tb8 setzt einen neuen Trend. 12...Rb8 is setting a new trend. 12...Tb8 setzt einen neuen Trend. 13.Nc2 Bg5 14.a4 bxa4 15.Nce3 A dynamic duo of knights.

Blitz 3min B15: Caro-Kann: 3.Nc3: 3...g6 and 3...dxe4 4.Nxe4 Nf6 5.Nxf6+ exf6

Before we go down the rabbit hole of studying our 1.c3 Venom theory, I'd first like to showcase to you some evidence of what playing 1.c3 Venom is all about! If you've been an avid studier of the mainlines for a long while, there may still be some doubt in your mind that 1.c3 may not live up to the expectations presented in my introduction. However, I hope by the end of these two model games, you will understand the power of what playing a sound, but offbeat, opening system can achieve! Several months ago, I met up with an old chess friend of mine for some casual blitz chess. I'd say I was always roughly a couple hundred ELO higher rated than him, but that doesn't mean I'd win every game against him! However, that evening, I was on a hot streak, and had won my first two blitz games (5|0) against him. As a result, I decided to experiment with a Caro-Kann with Black for our third game. 1.e4 c6 2.d4 d5 3.Nc3 dxe4 4.Bc4 Bf5 5.f4N

C24: Bishop's Opening: 2...Nf6 HOW TO AVOID THE PETROFF IN STYLE by GM Markus Ragger Once again, the Petroff is becoming increasingly popular. Most of the Chinese top Grandmasters keep on playing it, almost exclusively. Also, it is the main defensive weapon of the World Championship candidate Fabiano Caruana. I was preparing to play against it in a friendly match versus

Dieter Liviu Nisipeanu, the elite Grandmaster from Germany. Our match took place in Graz in February 2018. Since GM Nisipeanu is a very classical player, it is no surprise that his two main openings with the black pieces are the Caro-Kann and Petroff. Quite a common misconception is that those solid openings are not interesting and lead to boring games. On the contrary, everything depends on the players' attitude and their will to fight till the bitter end. We saw so many interesting encounters even in the Petroff with 5. Qe2 (Carlsen-Caruana 2018, Kramnik-Caruana 2018). As a result, I decided to avoid the Petroff discussion altogether by choosing the 2.Bc4 move order which aims to steer the game into "Italian waters". On the other hand, most Petroff aficionados try to avoid the Italian with 2...Nf6 3.d3 c6, which is absolutely the critical test for 2.Bc4. Nisipeanu did exactly the same against me. The funny looking 5...Bb4+ with the idea of denying White to develop his Knight to c3 appeared on the board, and he had a very unpleasant novelty 10...Be6 in petto. That move was seen only twice before in correspondence chess games. Objectively, Black is doing fine and obtains an equal position. I couldn't solve the practical problems over the board and got a worse position. Eventually, after a long fight the game ended in a draw. That same scenario embellished the whole match. Although the games were hard-fought, with decent winning chances for both players, all six of them ended in draw (3 : 3). However, it was reason enough for me to examine the line in question a lot deeper. So, in this article I would like to share my findings with you. I believe that White should recapture on d2 with the knight on move 7, and after the logical sequence 7...a5 8.a4 Nbd7 9.0-0 0-0 10.Re1 Re8 White can play d4 with, or without the inclusion of h3 h6. The resulting isolated queen pawn positions (IQP in the article) are crucial for the evaluation of the whole line. I expect many games to be played in this line as it offers quite a rich play, and I wouldn't be surprised if we witness it in the World Championship match Carlsen - Caruana!

Blitz 3min+3sec B33: Sicilian: Pelikan and Sveshnikov Variations The Women's Grand Swiss is very strong and one of the most important tournaments in the chess calendar. I was the 3rd top seed by rating, and my expectations were quite high. But despite this, the tournament was not going well for me, as I had only 4 points out of 8 rounds, and I was somewhere in the middle in the standings. Nevertheless, I am happy that I managed to win the last three games and share 5–8 places. This game, which I am going to show, was played in the 5th round and is one of my favorites that I played this year Der Women Grand Swiss ist sehr stark und eines der wichtigsten Turniere im Schachkalender.

Ich war die 3. Topgesetzte nach Rating, und meine Erwartungen waren ziemlich hoch. Trotzdem lief das Turnier nicht gut für mich, denn ich hatte nur 4 Punkte aus 8 Runden und lag in der Tabelle irgendwo in der Mitte. Dennoch bin ich froh, dass ich die letzten drei Partien gewinnen und die Plätze 5-8 teilen konnte. Diese Partie, die ich zeigen werde, wurde in der 5. Runde gespielt und ist eine meiner Lieblingspartien in Sethuraman has been the talk of the tournament. After a disastrous start with 0/3, he scored 3 points in a row, drew the next and won again getting close to catching the leaders and sharing the first place. Melbourne paper but GA MacDonnell also published it in ISDN for 3 Sept 1881

- he has got it from Adelaide Observer.
'A very interesting game played by correspondence a short time ago between Messrs H. Charlick and J.

C27: Vienna Game: 2...Nf6 3 Bc4 Nxe4 Opening expert: Vladimir Kramnik Born: 25 June, 1975 Nationality: Russia Rating: 2772 Expertise: White: Catalan Black: Petroff Why: His style has been marked by many people as boring, although this view seems rather simplistic. Almost all top players seem to be satisfied making a draw with Black under normal circumstances, and in our view Kramnik is simply the one who has worked out his Black repertoire better than the others. Kramnik was one of the very few players who wasn't afraid of Kasparov and the only one who managed to beat him in a match. In recent tournaments the Russian GM, who lives in Paris, has changed his style a bit and is taking more risks, also with Black. In the Tal Memorial he remained unbeaten with +3 and in London a real masterpiece by Carlsen inflicted his only loss. In the past Kramnik faced some difficulties when playing against creative, unorthodox players like Morozevich. In their last encounter in Moscow, Moro's original approach was cold-bloodedly refuted, while in London, Kramnik dealt in a similar way with McShane. C23: Bishop's Opening: 2...Bc5 By winning the last round at the Berlin FIDE Grand Prix, Nakamura qualified for the 2022 Candidates Tournament in a convincing way. This decisive game shows one of his biggest qualities, in my opinion: his resourceful defensive play and ability to keep the control in tense positions. Durch seinen Sieg in der letzten Runde des Berlin FIDE Grand Prix qualifizierte sich Nakamura auf überzeugende Weise für das Kandidatenturnier 2022. Diese entscheidende Partie zeigt meiner Meinung nach eine seiner größten Qualitäten: sein einfallsreiches Verteidigungsspiel und seine Fähigkeit, in angespannten Stellungen die Kontrolle zu behalten. 1.e4 e5 2.Bc4 Nf6 3.Qf3 Nc6 4.Ne2 Na5 5.d3 Nxc4 6.dxc4 d6 7.Nbc3 Be7

During the event, in public interviews, Magnus complained both of a lack of motivation, and later food poisoning, leading to him forcing a draw with the white pieces in the 2. classical game of this match, but for the deciding playoff both the joy and energy-level seemed to be there: Während des Turniers klagte Magnus in öffentlichen Interviews über mangelnde Motivation und später über eine Lebensmittelvergiftung, die dazu führte, dass er in der 2. klassischen Partie dieses Matches mit den weißen Figuren ein Remis erzwang, aber im entscheidenden Playoff schienen sowohl die Freude als auch die Energie vorhanden zu sein: 1.e4 e5 2.Nf3 Nc6 3.Bc4 Nf6 4.d3 Bc5 5.a4 d6 6.0-0 a5 7.Bg5N

I felt a bit exhausted after my lucky but deserved five hour victory in round eight against Giri. Playing the former World Champion, whose games I had studied extensively ever since I began playing chess, was of course a great event for me. I approached the last round with excitement and was eager to learn from one of the most renowned personalities in chess history.' Bojkov, Dejan: 'We are in the last round of the Qatar Open and at the first board of it. Kramnik is leading the event with 7/8 points, where he won the last 6 games after having started the event with 2 draws. Yu Yangyi is his direct competitor with only 0.5 points behind. Clearly, Kramnik wasn't expecting a short draw and was prepared for a very tough game. What actually happened was a disaster from Black's point of view. White has managed to get comfortable play. Kramnik tried to solve his problems in a tactical way, but missed Yu Yangyi's brilliant replies. White won a very nice game.' E05: Open Catalan: 5 Nf3 Be7

I wanted to provide an informational to show the most natural way to play against the Catalan and explain why we went for the rare sideline in this course.

The following theory was taken from my Aggressive Queen's Gambit Declined course if you are thinking of playing this as an alternative. White has multiple options, some of which are quite theory-intense and easy to err in. We wanted something more points A to B and ideas based in this text. Let's get into some of the honeycomb variations to see what you would need to learn to play against the mainline Open Catalan with Black. Anytime it is noted that White has other options they are covered in detail in the aforementioned text. We stuck to the mainlines to give the reader an idea of the complexity of the mainline. 1.d4 Nf6 2.c4 e6 3.Nf3 d5 4.g3 Be7 5.Bg2
